

Abstract

The present invention relates to compositions and methods 5 for treating humans and warm-blood animals suffering from cancer. More particularly, a therapeutical treatment in which a monoclonal antibody is administered with either β -(1,3)-glucan like laminarin or a oligo- β -(1,3)-glucan and a pharmaceutically acceptable carrier, to patients suffering from cancer are 10 described.

15

20

Our Docket: 16271-0260 (42528-294219)